

An ideological summary must explicitly show how one's form of motion of resistance to change or refusal to accept concrete analysis of concrete reality either preserves or don't preserve the capitalist relations of production and other bourgeois institutions. An ideological summary is restricted within the sphere of the law of value. The law of value within capitalist society is used by the capitalist class to socially oppress and economically exploit the working class in general and in particular it is used in personal relationships to either self-oppress or to economically exploit for self interest.

The conclusion of an ideological summary must show the shortcoming and the development in the use of the dialectical materialist tools in the process of negation of the law of value-to negate one's WOL.

The law of value can't be negated without manifestation of the symmetric relations of self-criticism, the use of the dialectical materialist tools, and the ideological development of one's proletarian form of motion.

The pivotal point of the symmetric relations is based on or in contradiction to the following theorems:

Beyond the point of internal clarity of the contradiction in each form of motion of matter, which is derived from theory & practice, the motion characterized as resistance to change transforms itself into a static force, ~~that contains itself to a one dimensional stage of inactivity.~~

Beyond the point of objective clarity of the contradiction in each of its processes of development, which has been derived from experience, the motion characterized as refusal to accept a concrete analysis of concrete reality reverses itself and thereby confines itself within an internal process of one dimensional activity.

The understanding of the contradiction in each form of motion of matter is to be dialectical; the understanding of the contradiction in each of its processes of development is to be a materialist; to be a dialectical materialist is to possess an understanding of the cycle of knowledge in its process of interdependence and interconnection.
